MESSAGE

Dear Colleagues

On behalf of the Malaysian Association for the Study of Pain (MASP), I take great pleasure in inviting you to attend the 2nd Congress of the Association of South East Asian Pain Societies (ASEAPS), which will be held in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia from the 5th to 8th December 2007. ASEAPS is a regional grouping of Pain Societies from Indonesia, Malaysia, Philippines, Singapore and Thailand that was formed in 2004 with a primary aim of promoting education on pain management in this region by organising conferences. These meetings will enable us to get together, share our experiences, and find solutions that are relevant to our countries for the benefit of our patients. The Scientific committee of MASP is working hard to organise an outstanding scientific programme with plenary lectures, symposia, panel discussion sessions, workshops and free paper presentations. The Congress will be held in the heart of Kuala Lumpur close to interesting places to visit, shopping centres and many food outlets where one can savor the delights of multi-cultural Malaysia. I once again urge all of you to come to Kuala Lumpur in December 2007 and help make it an unforgettable event.

THE PEOPLE AND FESTIVAL

Malaysia is a bubbling, bustling melting pot of races and religious where Malays, Chinese, Indians and many other people live together in peace and harmony. The largest ethnic groups in Malaysia are the Malays, Chinese and Indians. In Sabah and Sarawak, there are myriad of indigenous ethnic groups with their own unique culture and heritage. With its multicultural ethnic, it is truly a fascinating tourist destination endowed with stunning scenery, a colorful multi-racial mix and a charming blend of the old and new. In addition, an exciting year-round calendar of world class and unique local events, ensure visitors have endless opportunities to enjoy nature-based adventures, enriching cultural experience or fabulous shopping sprees.

It is compulsory for Malaysians to learn Bahasa Malaysia and English at school. Chinese and Indians learn Mandarin and Tamil at school respectively. Apart from that, Chinese dialects such as Cantonese and Hokkien are also widely spoken by the Chinese. Meanwhile, the Ibans and the Khadazans in Borneo also learn their native languages at school.

RELIGION

The official religion of Malaysia is Islam. However, Buddhism, Taoism, Hinduism and Christianity are widely practiced by the various races.

CLIMATE AND CLOTHING

Malaysia has a tropical climate that is hot and humid throughout the year. Annual rainfall exceeds 2000 mm. Its average temperature ranging from 32°C during the day to 22°C during the night. The climate in the east coast of Peninsular Malaysia and the coastal areas of Sabah and Sarawak is very much influenced by the monsoon season from November until March. During this rainy season, the monsoon wind sweeps across these areas bringing frequent heavy rains. Meanwhile, the western side of Peninsular Malaysia is not affected by the monsoon because it is protected by the soaring mountain ranges. This means that this part of Malaysia enjoys rainfall, which is more or less evenly distributed throughout the year, averaging 200 – 250cm a year.

Light comfortable clothing is the norm with lightweight woollens required for visits to highland areas.

GEOGRAPHY

Malaysia is strategically nestled in the center of South-East Asia, which is close to the Equator. Malaysia covers the area of 329,758 square km. Peninsular Malaysia, which looks like a sweet potato that stretches down from Thai border until it reaches Singapore is separated from Sabah and Sarawak (Borneo) by South China Sea. Malaysia has 18 mountain ranges that make it one of the most jungle-covered mountainous countries in the region. Most importantly, Malaysia is free from natural calamities such as earthquake and typhoon.
